

Acts 4:32-37

Dr. Ken Miller

In challenging economic times, the people of God should stand out as different from the rest of the world—and they will do so if they remember who they are ... and whose they are.

1. The hearts of believers are open to _____, _____, and to _____.

We are identified with a different _____.

In a world without purpose, God creates _____ and _____.

The unity of believers is both _____ and in need of _____ (Eph. 4:3-4)

Requirements for maintaining unity: (Acts 2:42)

These general requirements are constant; how they are applied _____.

"Open Heart, Open Hand"

March 1, 2009

2. Open hearts are evident through _____ and _____ -- in other words, through _____ (4:32)

For unity of heart and mind, there can be no _____ or _____ spirit.

Two primary activities of the open hand:

What hinders us from opening our hands? A few possible answers:

3. How can our hearts and hands be opened, so that God is seen among us?

Get to _____.

Take an " _____ " _____

What do I have that I do not need?
What do I have that could be shared?
What could I sell so that brothers and sisters will not be in want?

Remind ourselves: it all belongs _____.